

XM radio provides a very good service. The local oreiented content is very useful and should remain. Broadcasters in traditional media outlets should not be offered special privledges; they should have to compete for business just like all other industries.